EAST CHICAGO--INDIANA HARBOR

By SELMA STONE

Word has reached this department that DAWN STRICKLAND, who sailed away last August in company with her mother, MRS. FRANK STRICKLAND, for a year's study of classic ballet dancing in Paris, will sail for home on August 12, landing in New York on the 19th. No one knows at the present time what Dawn's plans are for the future but she will undoubtedly go far. Having as her teacher for the past year the very famous MADAME PREOBRAJENSKY, whose name breathes importance plus on the continent, Dawn will have achieved artistry that only an old world background could give her. Aside from studying intensely hard Dawn danced in the background of the Blum ballet for six performances of "Scheherazade," and "Petrovka." We'll all be anxiously awaiting her arrival home and a chance to view her perfected art. And won't it be grand to converse with Mrs. Strickland about Paris for she will really know it; having lived there for a whole year she will have gotten something that American travelers can never gulp in on a stay of a week or two in the city of cities.

Here's a welcome contribution: JIMMIE PATLYK writes in to say:

"Here's a good one for Ripley. In our recent tour of the east, JOE DE ROSA, JERRY GOVORCHIN, and I went through Warsaw and Poland, Ind; Rome, N. Y.; Paris and London, Canada; and Moscow, Michigan.

Still further on Jimmy reports:

"Jerry Govorchin is taking good care of the record he received in the NBC studios at Radio City, New York, while speaking over the national network. You should have seen the expression on Jerry's face when he was picked to talk into a real mike over a coast-to-coast hookup. But the biggest surprise came when he was handed a recording of what he had said."

Have you bumped into the word "ALLERGIC" yet? Each day doctors just out of medical school are opening offices and specializing in "allergic diseases"—O. O. McIntyre mentions it often in his column—
